Publication note: Publishing-ready as a lyric booklet now; it becomes stronger if paired with recorded music or a soundtrack release.

Cover direction: Dark pop cover with stage-light contrast and a dramatic lyric-sheet aesthetic.

What You Call Freedom

A Lyric Duel Between Lucifer and Zane

Category: Lyric poem / song text

Keywords: lyrics, duet, freedom, rebellion, mythic, dark pop

A lyric sheet framed as a confrontation between a rebel and the figure who believes rebellion can become a new form of domination.

Original song lyric draft by Cole Avery. The material is self-authored and does not borrow outside text.

Song Structure

The source is already close to final: verses, pre-chorus, chorus, bridge, and final verse. The publishing job is primarily formatting and presentation.

Core Theme

The song's argument is that power can distort liberation when one person decides what freedom should look like for everyone else.

That makes it useful as a companion piece to the Black Halo material because it captures the conflict between idealism, control, and moral compromise.

Author Bio

Cole Avery is an independent writer and creator working across memoir, fiction, mythology, visual storytelling, and systems-driven creative work.
